

Patterns of climate change in the USA: an analysis of temperature and precipitation trends since 1950

Emily Arsenault, Department of Ecology & Evolutionary Biology, University of Kansas, Lawrence, Kansas 66047 USA

```
temp
```

```
NULL
```

Abstract

- Applied Climate Information System database (ACIS)
- parameters included :

Introduction

- Can we see climate warming for ourselves by analyzing this data?
- In what parts of the country are temperatures getting warmer? Are there any parts that actually got colder over 1950-2010?
- Can we say, based on these data, what change has occurred in precipitation over the period?

Methods

Results

- figure
- map

Discussion

References